CubelQ Announces that CTS Receives Microsoft® Certification for Vista32 and Vista64 Operating Systems

[EN] Athens, GR, September 29th, 2009 - CubelQ Limited, an IT company provider of software solutions and systems for financial, banking and corporate institutions, today announces that CTS receives Microsoft® certification for Vista32 and Vista64 operating systems.

CTS have received Microsoft® Windows Hardware Quality Labs (WHQL) certification for Vista32 and Vista64 operating systems for its check scanner and check deposit equipment. The Windows Vista testing and logo program certifies that hardware and devices are designed and tested for ease of use, better performance, and enhanced security on PCs running Windows Vista. The program also certifies that hardware and devices are install easily, can automatically download device driver updates from Windows Update and helps ensure compatibility with other Certified for Windows Vista products.

The following CTS peripheral and open frame USB-equipped products are now certified:

- (a) Check Readers and Scanners - L40, L75, LS100, LS515, and LS800
- (b) Check Deposit - SB50E and SB600

“In CTS we are focused on providing our resellers and bank customers highly integrated solutions that are simple and efficient to use,” said Alex Trombetta, CTS North America CEO. “This Microsoft Vista testing and logo partner program certifies that products are plug-and-play compatible with Microsoft’s latest operating system, helping to assure smooth operations for years to come.”
